Norfolk Southern's manager talks about the Berms

At the recent meeting of McCallaCan, which presented the latest results of CH2MHill's environmental impact studies concerning noise levels generated at the Intermodal Facility, local resident Virginia Williams asked a question about the size of berms.

Lee Cochran, Manager of Norfolk Southern's Intermodal Development, responded.

"The berms for the intermodal facility are being designed to be 15 feet above the level of the pavement in the facility. This will make the base of the berms approximately 70 feet wide. There will be vegetation planted on the berms, as well.

The berm closest to McAdory Elementary School will be on a fill due to the lower level of the land in that area. Consequently, the top of that berm will be more than 15 feet above the existing ground level."

As a follow-up to questions at the McCallaCan meeting, Lee Cochran, Manager Intermodal Asset Development, Norfolk Southern Corporation, provided additional information about the berms that will separate the Intermodal Facility both from McAdory Elementary and from residential neighborhoods.
